stack-levels — zsh

FOUNDERS

Out of content ideas? Check what your buyers ask.

One buyer question. A week of posts.

step-01.sh

THE REASON

Every buyer question is a post

> A buyer asked in their words.
Use their words, not yours.
One question holds five posts.
Here's how to find yours.

step-02.sh

STEP 01 / 04

Find one real question

> Check your support inbox.
Read a competitor's reviews.
Copy their exact words.
Then take it apart.

step-03.sh

STEP 02 / 04

Split it into five angles

> Mon: answer. Tue: the mistake.
Wed: your story. Thu: the myth.
Fri: the steps.
Five posts. One draft away.

step-04.sh

STEP 03 / 04

Let Claude draft, you edit

> Paste the question in Claude.
Ask for one post per angle.
Tell it: keep their wording.
Then add what only you know.

step-05.sh

STEP 04 / 04

Add what only you know

> A number from your product.
A moment you watched happen.
A mistake you made first.
Want all five prompts?

I never know what to post.

Comment WEEK and I'll DM you the 5 Claude prompts that turn one buyer question into a week of posts.

Comment WEEK →